ALMA MATER

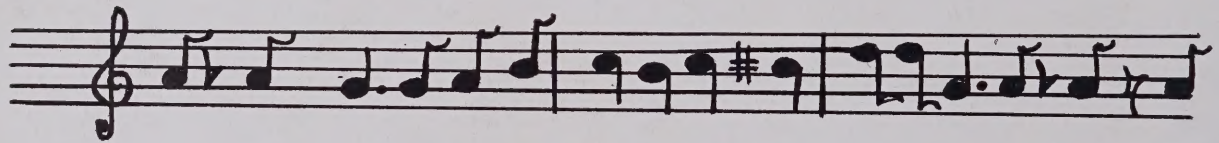

*We're all for you hail to you Flat Rock High.
We love to sing your praises to the sky.*

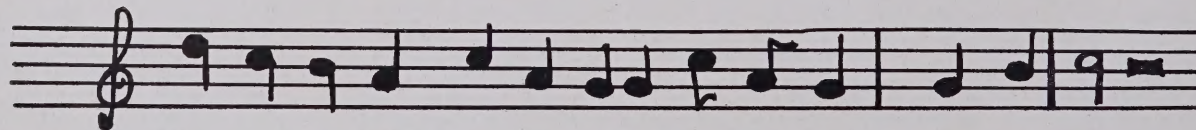

*We're ever loyal, faithful, ever true.
We make a pledge of loyalty unto you.*

*We stand for the best that's in the world.
The blue and white your banners we unfurl.*

*In every way we're working for your name,
To guard your fame.*

FLAT ROCK HIGH!

FLAT ROCK HIGH SCHOOL

Foreword

This year 1950 is a milestone in our century and in history. It, too, is a milestone in the lives of all those students who will be graduating this year from Flat Rock High School to live out the century in other scenes. This year the Parade staff has used as its theme the "March of Student Life" through the school years. The staff hopes that in the years to come each time you pick up this copy of the Parade, it will help you to march easily in reminiscence down memory's lane.

Dedication

EB

To William A. "Uncle Bill" Franklin we proudly dedicate this, the 1950 PARADE of Flat Rock High School. His kindness, understanding, sincerity, and amiability have accorded him a lasting place in our hearts as a true friend and the jolliest of fellows.

MIKE JONES

CLASS PROPHECY

I stopped in a tea room the other day down Flat Rock way. I looked at the heap of leaves in the cup, but after a second, it seemed as though the leaves had disappeared and before my vision came an endless march of familiar faces. They were all my classmates but in unfamiliar places and situations. According to that vision:

Charles Fowler is now manager of the Dixie Store.

Carl Mintz and Sylvia Corne are married and are in the procedure of living happily ever after.

Jack Franklin is teaching Agriculture at Flat Rock. On Saturdays he drives in the stock car races.

Sherrill Mullinax is now the owner of a large bean farm on Green River.

Ray Phillips is Basketball Coach at U. N. C. and likes his job very much.

Jim Staton has bought out the Youngblood Trucking Company and is making a fortune.

Lois Crisp is still happily married and has two children.

Katherine Johnson and Donald Hudson are the foreign language interpreters at the U. S. Bureau of Customs.

Joan Kay and Preston Justus, who incidently are working in Washington with the F. B. I., were finally married, and Joan has accepted a job as a model.

Evie Mae Lowe has just accepted a job on the radio. She is America's topmost newscaster on Station G-o-s-s-i-p.

Charles Hunnicutt has made a fortune from his company, The Hunnicutt Practical Joker's Supply.

Guy McCarson and Polly Howse are working together as a dance team in a New York night club.

Baisden Tabor has bought a sawmill from Arthur Hoots and says that the hard work agrees with him.

Willard Rhodes has a barber shop. He says he has more trouble with mustaches than anything else.

Wynona Anders is Mr. Justus' own private secretary.

Grace Justus is playing with the All-Stars, and wouldn't tell who she married.

Wilma Sherman and husband are living happily on the money she made from her book "Two Can Live as Cheaply as a Half-pint."

Martha Young and Ruth Jones are nurses at Blair General Hospital in Asheville.

Jane Osteen has succeeded in raising 5,000 chickens and is trying to rear her eight children at the farm of Cecil Henderson who is now her husband.

Doris Hunnicutt is working for Pat and Turner Lingerie Company and is looking for a MAN.

Faye Waters is the best Trapeze Artist ever to work for "Barn and Smell" circus. She is also the wife of the head monkey-tamer.

Fred Waters is the undisputed billard champion of the world and has been for seven years.

Evelyn Prince and Arnold Case are living a happy married life and are getting rich from their radio programs, "The Plague of a Mother-in-law," and "Married Life Can Be Wonderful."

Nancy Hardin has done very well as an interior decorator. Her father builds houses and she decorates them. Mary Ann Hefner is the chief assistant decorator.

Betty Jean Bishop married a toothpick manufacturer.

Doris Delvechio became a seamstress and is having a ripping good time.

Earleen Fortner is now in the movies. She is being starred in G. M. C.'s new picture, "The White Raven."

Helen Blythe is a saleslady for the Rosebud Packing Company, and she says that cucumbers will sell pretty fair this season.

Janelle McGuinn is the manager of Woolworths, and spends a lot of time at the hardware counter. I think she's waiting for a man.

Barbara Potts is selling annuals, class rings, and all the little necessities you get at graduation time to high schools.

Virginia Burns married a fruit salesman from Genoa, Italy.

Damaris Robinson married the "Guess What Man," Coach M. Bagwell. They now have three little "Bags" in the family.

Eleanor Saltz ran away with the milk man, and her friend Lois Owens ran away with a man from the Bleachery at Travelers Rest. I think it was a double elopement.

Evelyn Lanning is just a plain old housewife and has VERY LITTLE TO DO except sweep, mop, change babies, and the usual chores.

Emma Jean Thompson is the biggest pest that Tom Shepherd never got. She only had 26 wrecks last year, but the old Plymouth still runs. Emma Jean still runs too.

Jann Pace is the English teacher at Flat Rock.

Ann Maxwell found that her talent was in drawing. She makes a pleasing income that way.

Celestine Heatherly is now a beauty operator and has her own "Saloon"!

Mable Case has turned out to be a pretty good book-keeper. She now works for Sears, Roebuck and Company.

Betty Sue McMinn is the secretary of the secretary to the second vice president of Bob Jones University.

Rhonda Lockaby is our first lady president.

Jennie Bell McCarson is in Rhonda's cabinet.

Sadie Jones ran away with a traveling man.

I manage my father's soap factory.

My vision fades. I see no more; but that's enough.

LORIMER KEATHLEY, Class Prophet.

CLASS HISTORY

We, the class of '50, have come to our journey's end; I shouldn't say the end; I should say the beginning. It is the end of twelve wonderful carefree years together—years that in later life we will all love to look back over, and we will enjoy their beautiful memories.

We, the Senior Class, first began to travel the path of knowledge in 1938. The years that followed were years of growth and adjustment. We carved our personalities, deepened our characters, enriched our lives and the lives of others.

During all the years that we have gone to school, we seem to have enjoyed the last four years of school the best.

It was thrilling when we entered the ninth grade to know that we were in our first year of high school. We felt very important. By this time we were really growing up, so we were allowed more freedom. There were the picnics that we went on and the short trips that we took. The basketball and baseball games were always exciting. As we advanced farther into high school there were many different clubs and activities in which we could participate.

One of the high points in our school activities was the Junior-Senior banquet. As Juniors it was our privilege to entertain the Seniors. We all had a wonderful time planning for it and giving it.

As we turn the last page in the year book of our school's days and listen to the last echo of our footsteps in the dear old halls of Flat Rock, we sincerely hope that we are taking with us a knowledge of having accomplished something and are leaving behind a feeling that we have enriched the life of the school.

We thank the teachers who have given us their guidance and understanding all through the years; but for them, where would we be today? We would surely not be about to slip over the threshold to a new and exciting life.

Wilma Gordon, Class Historian

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We the Senior Class of Flat Rock High School, being supposedly of sound(?) mind and about to pass out of existence (as far as the Juniors are concerned) do make public this, our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

To Mrs. Sinclair, who has been our guiding hand throughout this school year, we leave our undying love and devotion for the many things she has done for us.

ARTICLE II

Wynona Anders wills her sweet personality to Myrtle Smith.

Betty Jean Bishop leaves her flirtatious smile to Juanita Medlin.

Helen Blythe, Doris Delvechio and Wilma Sherman bequeath their friendship to Pat Hall, Eva Cable, and Mary Lou Lockaby.

Virginia Burns leaves her worries to Carmelita Redmond.

Mable Case wills her French book to Barbara Jean Bradburn who is crazy enough to take second year French.

Sylvia Corne wills her quietness to Ruth Stepp and Verna Bright.

Lois Crisp Heaton wills the book she has just written, "A Good Wife," to any Junior who might need it.

Earleen Fortner leaves her love for "Woolworths" to Nedral Pace.

Charles Fowler wills his Economics book to Sam Sosebee.

Jack Franklin Willis his absentmindedness to Bobby Davis and Arthur Howse.

Nancy Hardin, Jann Pace, Mary Ann Hefner and Betty Sue McMinn leave their quietness to Clarendon Sherman, Arnold Gilbert, John Cox, and David Fain.

Celestine Heatherly wills her dislike for boys to Anna Sue Thompson.

Donald Hudson leaves his pleasing personality to Eddie Bell and Kenneth Bane.

Charles Hunnicutt leaves his scholastic records to Newell Saltz.

Doris Hunnicutt wills her love for school to Bobbie Jean Keith.

Catherine Johnson wills her scholastic records to Margaret Pace.

Ruth Jones wills her blushing ways to Avis Mintz.

Grace Justus wills her basketball ability to Doris Cornwell.

Lorimer Keathley leaves his lover for blondes to Junior McDaniel.

Evelyn Lanning leaves those lovely manners to Vera Capps and Lillie Mae Laughter.

Rhonda Lockaby leaves her pleasing plumpness to Bobbie Lytle.

Guy McC Carson wills his good-naturedness to Robert Bell.

Jennie Bell McC Carson wills her giggles to Wilma Stepp and Eva Levi.

Janelle McGuinn wills her neatness to Sreptia Allen.

Carl Mintz leaves his brilliant ideas behind that innocent look to Kenneth Summey.

Sherrill Mullinax wills his reputation as a heart-breaker to Tommie Lockaby.

Lois Owens leaves her shyness to Bennie Justus and Mary Sue Johnson.

Barbara Potts wills her book "How to Gain Weight" to J. L. Merrill.

Evelyn Prince Case bequeaths her pleasing disposition to Gladys Mullinax.

Willard Rhodes wills his "razor" to Ed Nelson if he things he can get up in the morning, shave, eat, and catch the school bus.

Damaris Robinson leaves her "toothpaste" smile to Betty Staton.

Eleanor Saltz leaves her friendly ways to Ann Robinson.

Jimmie Staton leaves his ability to get out of Study Hall every day to Billy Shipman.

Baisden Tabor leaves his general misunderstanding of English to Jack Hill.

Emma Jean Thompson and Martha Young leave their typewriter to Don King and David Jackson who also use the hunt and peck system.

Sadie Jones leaves her pretty hair to Marcella Pittman.

Joan Kay and Preston Justus will their affection for each other to Jack Cairnes and June Pace.

Jane Osteen wills her affection for the Henderson family to Pat Hall.

Evie Mae Lowe leaves her cheerleader outfit to be sold at public auction to be held at the first pep meeting in 1950.

Faye Waters wills her weakness for pretty clothes to Frankie Bayne.

Ann Maxwell wills her recently published book "How to Get a Husband" or "The Great Catastrophe" to Frankie Mullinax.

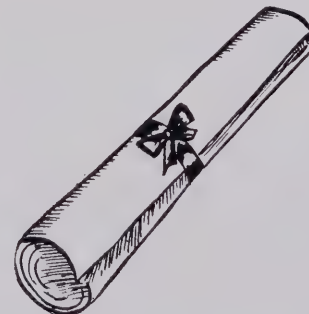

Fred Waters leaves his ability to tell jokes to Jimmie Sherman.

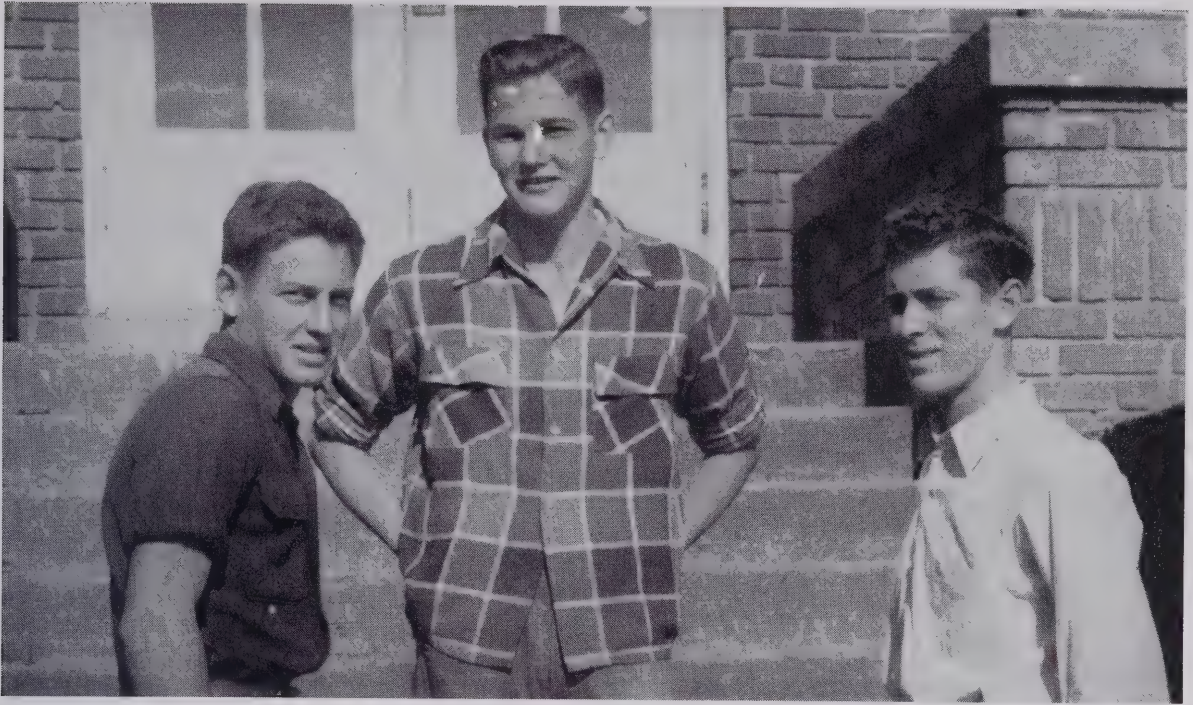

To Houston Stepp and Vernon Waters the Senior Class leaves the helm of state to turn and twist at will as they see fit to guide this difficult class down the rocky path to graduation.

And I, Ray Phillips, bequeath my ability to think out loud in Mrs. Sinclair's English class to anyone who can do it and not get put in study hall, probably Arnold Gilbert.

In witness thereof the class of 1950 has Signed and Sealed this 12th day of December, one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine.

RAY PHILLIPS, LL.B., Class Attorney.
